

Boris Kucharsky and Elizabeth Hopkins: their exciting new project!

Following the tremendous success of their Beethoven series, Boris Kucharsky and Elizabeth Hopkins turn to the other two great "B's" of musical history: Bach and Brahms.

Johannes Brahms was a lifelong admirer of Johann Sebastian Bach and was greatly influenced by him. He loved playing Bach's music, he was fascinated by his counterpoint and he edited many of his works. "Study Bach, you'll find everything there" was his advice to would-be composers, illustrating his reverence for the great Baroque master.

In their 3-part concert series Boris Kucharsky and Elizabeth Hopkins will demonstrate the affinity between these two great composers by introducing, comparing and performing their Violin Sonatas.

Bach meets Brahms I:

Johann Sebastian Bach	Sonata in B minor BWV 1014
	Sonata in A major BWV 1015
Johannes Brahms	Sonata in G major ("Song of the rain") Op.78

Bach meets Brahms II:

Johann Sebastian Bach	Sonata in E major BWV 1016
	Sonata in C minor BWV 1017
Johannes Brahms	Sonata in A major Op.100

Bach meets Brahms III:

Johann Sebastian Bach	Sonata in F minor BWV 1018
	Sonata in G major BWV 1019
